OUR LOGO

DPI Schools. The design features the acronym "DPI" in a heavy, blue custom-made typeface to depict artistically interesting visual acronym, with the word "schools" positioned neatly underneath. A distinctive academic emblem sits above the lowercase letter "i", incorporating a graduation cap, a torch, and a shield in a red and blue colour palette. This graphic mark combines traditional symbols of learning with modern typography to represent the institution's professional brand. The overall aesthetic conveys a sense of authority and academic achievement through its structured layout and symbolic imagery.

The "DPI" Typography: The letters "D", "P", and "i" are the most prominent feature, with the lowercase "i" uniquely integrated with academic imagery

The Mortarboard (Graduation Cap): Sitting atop the letter "i", the graduation cap is a universal symbol for academic achievement, success, and the completion of a journey in education

The Torch: Created within the crest/shield that forms the body of the "i", the torch represents light as enlightenment, the light of the Word of God as knowledge, and guidance. The white flame suggests "Divine guidance and the pursuit of wisdom"

The Shield: The torch is housed in a shape that resembles a shield which symbolizes Faith in the Word of God as protection and the strength of DPI Schools letter "i", incorporating a graduation cap, a torch, and a shield in a red and blue colour palette.

Logo Summary

The structural arrangement of the DPI SCHOOLS logo balances modern typographic weight with functional foundation:

Case Contrast and Ligatures: The "DP" is rendered in bold, uppercase majuscules, connected at the top by a seamless ligature. This connection signifies continuity and the interconnectedness of the educational journey. In contrast, the "i" is lowercase, a common semiotic choice used to represent the "individual," "innovation," or "intelligence" within a modern corporate context.

Emblem Integration: The use of the educational crest as the tittle (the dot) of the lowercase "i" creates a vertical axis of interest, drawing the eye directly to the symbols of achievement and grounding the letterform in academic tradition.

Foundation and Alignment: The word "SCHOOLS" is contained within a navy blue rectangular block positioned beneath the "P" and "i". This right-aligned justification balances the visual mass of the heavy "D" on the left, providing a literal and figurative foundation for the brand.

Typographic Tracking: The text "SCHOOLS" is significantly "tracked out" (extra letter spacing), a technique that increases legibility and adds an air of prestige, luxury, and institutional breathing room to the composition.

The DPI SCHOOLS logo represents a sophisticated synthesis of modern and traditional visual codes. By marrying a heavy, BentonSans typeface—connoting modern authority and efficiency—with classic heraldic iconography like the mortarboard and shield, the institution projects an image of "progressive heritage." The connection between the "D" and "P" suggests a cohesive, uninterrupted experience, while the lowercase "i" centres the student within the institutional framework. Ultimately, the visual evidence confirms that the logo is designed to project a Divine Statement and a professional image that successfully balances the connection of a contemporary mission with the gravitas of established biblical educational values.

FONT TYPE

Typography (font type and size) plays a major role in establishing and ensuring consistency. It is paramount to use similar fonts for all the application and materials. If other typefaces seem more appropriate for specific applications e.g. Promotional Advertising, please get approval from the Official authorities owning this brand and public Affairs department prior to publishing.

The preferred font style is title case for all modes of communications and materials. The selected font types perfectly blend with the Logo. The Logo, the acronym and the name have customised fonts and should not be tampered with at any cost. Refer to the colour palette for the right colour usage of brand fonts.
